Seek More Money For School Needs

The Board of Education of School District 122 is preparing a petition to be presented to the people of the school district, requesting a tax referendum, to raise the rate for educational purposes.

Stanley Gilmore, secretary of the board, announced at the PTA meeting held Tuesday night, December 12, that this decision was reached by the Board because they consider it necessary. The Board requested the public to cast an affirmative vote. Mr. Gilmore pointed out that the present 40c rate for educational purposes does not provide sufficient revenue to operate the kind of school that a growing community like New Lenox should have.

It was pointed out that the cost of school supplies has increased in the past few years, and that the Board believes it is necessary to make adjustment in the salary schedule if the district is going to retain a competent teaching staff. He said that our New Lenox salaries were far too low in comparison with other schools, comparable to those of New Lenox.

Mr. Gilmore reminded the PTA that New Lenox schools have lost a number of excellent teachers in the past few years because other schools offered better.

The proposed increase would be to a 75c rate but Mr. Gilmore advised the PTA that the Board would not necessarily levy that school rate. The 75c rate is the rate which would have to be voted upon at this time.

A 19 increase would mean about $3,000.00 more to work with and a .15 increase would mean almost $5,000.00. With the increased price of coal and paper and other things needed for the school, the present rate is not sufficient.

Kathryn Lambrecht, Robert Anderson Married Dec. 16

The holiday wedding of Miss Kathryn Lambrecht and Robert Anderson Jr., took place Saturday evening December 16 at 7 o'clock with a candlelight ceremony performed in St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church in Frankfort. The Rev. Erich Bizer read the single ring service before the altar in a setting of Scotch flocked pine entwined with red and white carnations. The pews were marked with pine tied with white bows of ribbon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lambrecht of Frankfort and bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson Sr., 1105 Taylor street, Joliet.

Mrs. Glenn Sterling of Joliet presided at the organ and accompanied Howard Marsh, also of Joliet when he sang, "Because," "I Love Thee" by Griegs and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of candlelight bridal satin trimmed with Venetian lace and fashioned with a fitted bodice and off the shoulder effect, a yoke of Venetian lace coming to a point. Tiny buttons trimmed the back. The long dolman sleeves were edged with tiny buttons from the elbow to the wrist. The full gathered skirt ended in a short train. Her nylon illusion fingertip veil fell from a cap of Venetian lace which was held in place with a pearl pin. She carried a white satin muff edged in lace which cushioned white starlight lilies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Mae Carson of Joliet, and the bridesmaids, Miss Carol Johnson of Joliet; Miss Colette Bergen of Chicago, both former roommates of the bride at the University of Illinois; Miss Marlene Anderson of Joliet, sister of the groom and Mrs. Paul Lambrecht, sister-in-law of the bride, all wore identical gowns of two piece street length green velvet with fitted bodices and small roll collars buttoned down the front. The bracelet length sleeves were fashioned with turn back cuffs and the skirts were pleated. They wore matching headpieces of bunny fur in cap effect, and carried white satin muffs centered with sprigs of holly.

Howard Johnson of Joliet, served as best man and the ushers were Paul Lambrecht, brother of the bride, Robert Martin, Wendell Anderson and Stanley Magill, all of Joliet.

The brides mother chose a blue crepe dress, fashioned with steel beads and a blue hat, and the grooms mother wore a royal blue crepe dress and a white hat. Both wore corsages of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors with about 200 guests attending. The brides table was covered with a green taffeta cloth edged with a floor length flounce and centered with a large lace dolly upon which was the four tiered cake. The cake was decorated with a centerpiece consisting of scotch pine and red carnations and encircled with smilax. White pinnacle candles were at each side of the cake twined with pine wreaths and white satin ribbon. The other tables were spread identical as the brides table with the decorations carried out in Yuletide log effect created with five candles and silver bells and large white ribbon rosettes.

Miss Shirley Welchbrodt and Miss Jean Magill of Joliet poured. Miss Charlene Folkers cut the cake and Mrs. Howard Osmus, cousin of the bride, served at the punch bowl.

The bride is a graduate of the Joliet Township High School, Joliet Junior college and University of Illinois, from which she was graduated in 1950. She is a teacher in the Joliet public schools.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

Christmas Bells

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

I heard the bells on Christmas Day
Their old, familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!
And thought how, as the day had come,
The belfries of all Christendom
Had rolled along
The unbroken song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!
Till, ringing, singing on its way,
The world revolved from night to day,
A voice, a chime,
A chant sublime
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!
Then from each black, accursed mouth
The cannon thundered in the South,
And with the sound
The carols drowned
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!
It was as if an earthquake rent
The hearth-stones of a continent,
And made forlorn
The households born
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!
And in despair I bowed my head;
"There is no peace," I said;
"For hate is strong,
And mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!"
Then pealed the bells more loud and deep:
"God is not dead; nor doth He sleep!
The Wrong shall fail,
The Right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men!"

Seoul Univ. Head Exec. Sec. Laymen's Mission. Movement

The Rev. Harry B. Ansted, LL. D., former president of Seoul University, Korea, has been elected executive secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, with headquarters in Chicago, it was announced by Dr. Alvah L. Sawyer, chairman of the executive committee. He will be in charge of the cooperative activities with 50,000 churches throughout the United States and Canada, maintained by the Laymen's Missionary Movement for the promotion of world-wide missionary activity. Offices are at 19 South LaSalle St.

Dr. Ansted succeeds Frederick J. Michel, veteran secretary of the organization, who has been associated with it for 41 years, and in charge of the national headquarters here since 1918. He will years in the business world, mostly continue to act as associate secretary.

Dr. Ansted was a chaplain in World War II, serving in the Philippine Islands and Korea. He was chosen by the American Military Government in 1946 to act as president of Seoul University, formerly Keijo Imperial University. During his administration the other public colleges in the Seoul area, as well as two private colleges, were combined with the former Japanese Imperial University, to form Seoul National University.

In November, 1947, the Korean board of regents of the university requested Dr. Ansted to act as chancellor, and to serve as a good will ambassador to American colleges and universities. While in Korea he was also appointed as a director of Heung Han Foundation, the country's leading philanthropic foundation.

Before entering the field of education, Dr. Ansted spent nine years in the business world, mostly in the automobile field. Before going to Korea he spent twenty years in Christ education, serving colleges in capacities ranging from professor to president.

Dr. Ansted is a native of Michigan, and attended colleges and universities in Michigan, Illinois and California. Two universities have conferred upon him the LL.D. degree.

His chief work here will be to give new incentive to the worldwide missionary effort of the churches, which the Laymen's Missionary Movement promotes and brings to a head in the world-wide observance of Men and Missions. Henry Edward Rompel, Committee member.

First Christmas Card

The first Christmas card is supposed to have been sent in 1846. According to House Beautiful magazine, there's a story that a Scotsman started the whole idea by having cards printed in 1841 with New Year's greetings to his friends. Although the sale of Christmas seals in America has been going on since 1907, the idea was first started in Denmark, three years earlier. Since then, the seals have become part of a world-wide movement to combat tuberculosis.

Dickens Favored Merry Christmas

The association of Christmas festivities with coaching, waistcoated gentlemen and bonneted, bemuddled ladies is probably attributable to the influence of Charles Dickens, who wrote A Christmas Carol and Pickwick Papers. England took a long time to get over the Puritan taboos on Christmas, and it was Dickens' gay and enthusiastic descriptions of the holiday's merriment which did much to revive the old customs.

The First Creche

Where did the Christmas creche originate? Well, Saint Francis of Assisi is thought to have arranged the first nativity scene as a token of Christmas, setting it up in a church in Greccio, Italy. That was more than seven centuries ago, before the common use of books and pictures. According to House Beautiful magazine, St. Francis' purpose was to present the story more graphically to the people.

How to Overcome Christmas Hazards

In a plea for fire safety, the Greater Chicago Safety Council today pointed out that Christmas trees and various holiday decorations are fire hazards and should be carefully watched. Many fires are caused by Christmas trees.

"Each year we are asked about flameproofing Christmas trees", states Howard L. Willett, president of the Council, "and here is a bulletin issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Underwriter Laboratories:

"The flammability of Christmas trees is well known, and considerable thought has been given to the question of rendering them less easily ignited. Various methods of treating trees with flameproofing solutions have been tried, but none has proven successful. Because of the inability to make Christmas trees flameproof it is urged other protective practices be adopted."

Here are some further safety practices, according to Mr. Willett:

1. Buy a tree that has been cut as recently as possible. Do not use a tree having brittle stems as it is dried out and will burn easily.
2. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to install it.
3. Do not set it up until a few days before Christmas.
4. Set up the tree in the coolest part of the house away from stairs mark.

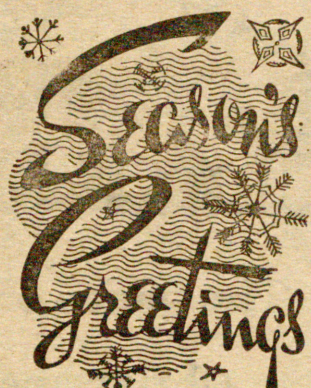

and heating and lighting fixtures. Anchor it securely with the butt submerged in a full pan of water. If necessary shut off the radiator near it.

5. In schools, churches, hospitals, hotels and industry and other places of public assembly, the location of the tree is of vital importance. It should not be placed near any stairway, elevator shaft or near entrance door or otherwise block exits. It should not be located in the line of travel to any exit.

6. Under no circumstances use any cotton or paper for decoration of the tree or for room decoration and avoid the use of lighted candles.

7. People in pageants and processions should carry electric candles run by flashlight batteries. Do not use open flame lights.

Holiday use of tuberculosis stamps was begun first in Denmark.

Tomlinson was high scorer for Orland with ten points followed by Rust with 9 points. Orland led at the half time 13 to 11. Since both teams scored 20 points in the second half, Orland won by a score of 33 to 31.

9 points, Orland won the game. Placke and Stehlik shared scoring honors for Braidwood with 5 points apiece.

Something for Love

Lesson for December 24, 1950

SCRIPTURE: Luke 21:20; Philippians 4:4-7
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 2:1-15

THIS is a true story but it also is a parable for Christmas.

Once upon a time there lived a lady who had everything. As Christmas time came on, her many friends racked their brains to think what they could give her. It would have been absurd to send her a check, for though she was not rich she did not really need money. There was nothing to speak of that she seemed to need for her house, for she had lived in one place for some time and she had collected about all the furniture and bric-a-brac that her house would hold. There was not much use in giving her something like candy because she was on a diet and could not eat fancy foods. She had more pictures than she could hang at one time, and as for books, she had a taste above best-sellers and what she could not get from the public library she could buy for herself.

A Lovable Person

HOWEVER, her friends were determined to give her something, for she was a lovable person; so when Christmas time came her table was piled with gay parcels from near and far. Some of the gifts may have been expensive and some not, but all were beautiful.

So she appreciated them, but because she could have bought any of them herself, she did not appreciate any of them quite so much as she did one present that when Christmas morning came could not be seen at all. One could not call it a beautiful present to look at; indeed it was seen only once. But the memory of it lingered for a long time.

This lady had a cook. She was not a very good cook when first she went to work, because she was young and no one had trained her and she did not like to be trained. She was suspicious of any one who tried to show her how to do anything, and she bore a grudge against any one who had more in this world than she had. But the lady was patient, and the girl learned about a home from her; indeed the most and the best she learned was not about cooking at all, as you shall see.

The Invisible Gift

ON the day before Christmas the girl went home early to spend the day with her family. But before dark on Christmas day, in the same hour the kitchen stove went out of order and visitors came to spend the night, and the lady fell ill. Not knowing what to do, she called up the girl, Christmas though it was, and asked her if she could come back and help out for a few hours to get things straight.

So the girl came and made the stove behave and cooked a meal and took care of her friend and made everything as it should be on that day. When it was late and time to go, the lady offered the girl more than her usual pay. But the girl would not take even one coin. She said to her friend: "I like to do something for love."

So when the presents lay opened, on the very top of the pile, visible to the inward eye alone, were the hours of work given because the giver wanted to do something for love.

The True Gift

GIFTS that are sold in the stores, gifts that crowd the post offices, carloads of gifts that pass each other in the night on roaring wheels, the little gifts and the great; which of these are given for love?

Some are sent to return a favor; some because it is the thing to be done; some are sent out of old habit, or in hope of favors to come. Where is the true Christmas gift?

It can never be seen, for it cannot be sold in the stores and the post office does not know the rates on it. It comes silently, and sometimes only the giver and God know about it, and the one who receives it does not suspect. But it shines above all the tinsel and the stars upon the Christmas tree; when the lights are out it glows in the dark. It keeps the night bright for the lonely heart. It is the something done for love.

That is what Christmas means. On the first Christmas Eve, Mary the blessed Mother, was in pain, but it was pain borne in love. You could not have paid her for it. Yes, and the Child that lay in the manger that night was there because God wanted to do something—for love.

Joliet Jr. College News

The Joliet Junior college basketball team has started on a long twenty-game schedule with three victories. Kendall College, Elgin, and Benton Harbor, Michigan, have lost to Coach Aubrey Willis' Wolves. Each game has followed the same pattern and each one has returned a different hero. Kendall jumped into a lead and held it until midway of the second half when Richard Plagenz, Lockport import, and Jack Martie from Mokena led rallies that gave the Wolfpack a 44-42 victory. Joliet's first conference game, played with Elgin, resulted in a final score of 59-33, but the Wolves had to score 22 points in the last quarter to give them a wide margin. In this game Jay Fagan and Ron Fagan, freshman brothers from Joliet's Catholic High school, were instrumental in piling up the points for the Willis' crew.

Benton Harbor's undefeated giants worried the Joliet team for three quarters, assuming leads of 11-4 early and 41-40 late in the game. While Jay Fagan and Ron Fagan again led the scoring, credit for the victory could be given to Joliet's rushing type of defense. Carl Adams, Braidwood, and John Pluth, Lockport, spearheaded the Joliet press. They intercepted passes and chased the Benton Harbor boys all the second half. The tiring visitors completely collapsed in the final quarter when Joliet scored 24 points to win by a 66-49 score. Big Rudy Skul controlled the boards and scored 13 points to be a big factor in the victory. John Bourg, who played center at Catholic High School, and six foot five-inch Don Harms from Township High School have been valuable players in Willis' new team. Bill Mooney and Al Denovellis, who earned letters last year, are always available. The coach's main task is to fit the squad members into a team pattern. The loss of last year's regulars has created a big problem.

This year's squad has size and speed, but not in the same boys. A pressing defense and a fast break, which has been Willis' chief weapon while building a phenomenal record in Joliet, will have to be played with the big boys on the bench. Five centers grace the squad with the two tallest hailing from Township. Rudy Skul, who has put on a few pounds and acquired some aggressiveness appears to have the edge over the other boys. Don Harms, hard working giant, will be a splendid substitute for Skul when the schedule gets tougher. Jack Martie, John Bourg, and Jay Fagan are also capable centers, but Willis is trying to work them in as forwards.

Joliet's pre-holiday schedule calls for Moline and Concordia, Milwaukee on December 13 and 20 at Joliet. Great Lakes will invade the spacious Joliet arena January 5. A small admission fee is asked. Games start at 8 pm.

Ideal Yule Tree Has Shape, Spire And Is Not Dry

It can be like looking for a haystack in the needles if you buy a dried-out Christmas tree and expect it to last over the extended holiday.

Before purchasing, feel twigs and foliage and smack the tree butt sharply on the floor. advises Martin L. Davey, Jr., the tree expert. If twigs and needles feel brittle and needles rain to the ground, shop about for another tree. Odds are the one at hand soon will look more like a hat-rack than a Christmas tree.

The traditional tree, widely available, is the balsam fir with fine conical form, spire top and excellent color. It and other firs hold their foliage well and stay attractive throughout the holiday season. The Norway spruce as well as other spruces enjoy wide popularity and make desirable and beautiful Christmas trees, although they do not hold their leaves as well as the fir.

In areas, where available, some of the pine also provide nice holiday atmosphere, notably Scotch, Austrian, red and white pines. In more northern districts, arborvitae occasionally grace the indoor Yuletide scene.

Trees that are closely branched and come well down to the base are best for decorative purposes. There is a time when a "one-sided" tree may serve equally well. That is when you intend placing your tree in a corner. It is entirely possible you may get a real "bargain" in such a tree.

Your Christmas tree will retain its attractiveness much longer if you recut the butt and lower it into a container filled with water. No need to go to extra expense, either.

If the tree is small, simply fill an ordinary pail or bucket with enough rocks, gravel or even coal lumps to hold the butt securely. Pour in the water, then decorate the pail or bucket with tinfoil or decorative paper.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Look for the latest bureaucratic move, the new credit regulations on home buying, to be a focal point of attack when Congress goes back into session late in November.

In fact, this action may well be reflected in November elections.

The heavy protest is coming from cities under 25,000 where the new ruling is hurting.

In communities of this size, the independent building contractor, and his suppliers such as the independent lumber yard, plumber, hardware store and others, are a key factor in the community economy. Together they account for about two-thirds of the nation's home building.

The building boom to fill current needs for housing has resulted in some inflationary trends in large metropolitan areas where big corporations, big financial institutions, and big labor has created artificial price levels.

But in the Homesteads of the U.S.A., the common sense of both buyers and independent operators in the building industry has kept inflation down. In fact, records show that in 1949 four out of five homes were sold to families with incomes from $2,000 to $5,000.

But these facts were obviously waved aside by the bureaucrats.

They proceeded on the theory that there is only one way to get rid of mice in a house. Burn the house down.

So look for a slump in building. Look for unemployment. People thrown out of work by this latest bureaucratic fantasy cannot be absorbed in defense work.

©National Federation of Independent Business

The military will take less than 10% of the lumber supply next year; only 5% of the steel.

This is going to cause Congressmen embarrassment. They voted these arbitrary powers to bureaucrats without any necessity.

Congressmen may try to wiggle out of this by pleading, "forgive us, for we knew not what we did." But from all reports, stupidity is becoming a defense that the people in the smaller cities of the country are getting very reluctant to accept.

People are already starting to ask such questions as this.

"Why were such powers given to men like Carl Gray of the Veterans Administration who at one time was general superintendent of a large corporation and is now a director of a large investment syndicate, or to Ray Foley, head of the Federal Housing Administration, who has been on government payrolls continuously since 1933. What do they know about our local problems?"

Back of this entire move is the underlying drive.

The bureau in charge of rent control wants its powers back. The bureau that wants to build socialistic multi-million dollar public housing projects now see their opportunity.

But all this has no effect on the Frenchman, for just prior to this order, ECA Bulletin No. 1765 announced this information.

The Marshall Plan has just granted France $19,000,000 for building homes. This will not cause inflation in France... because American taxpayers foot the bill.

Into that fire go all the unpleasant things of the past year, and hearts and spirits are cleansed in preparation for the coming of the Christ Child. Following the ceremony, all will be invited for the traditional Wassail punch and Christmas cookies and then recreation in the Great hall.

On Christmas Eve, Sunday, December 24, friends will gather in the living room at 7:00 p.m. to hear Dr. Donald Bond of Palos Park read Dicken's "Christmas Carol." Following there will be a short chapel service in the new Wayside chapel at 8:00 p.m.

We greet you and welcome you to any and all of these festivities and wish you a very Merry Christmas.—The Community Center Foundation.

The Legend Of Saint Nick

It's little wonder that Saint Nick is especially generous to the American people. History proves that the Americans have done a lot for Saint Nick!

According to research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia, the Americans have given Saint Nick a new name, a new face and figure, and a new means of transportation.

The original European version of Saint Nick pictured him as a tall angular man who rode on a bony gray mare. Both the horse and Saint Nick looked as if they hadn't had a good meal in some time. The Saint had deep sunken eyes and wore a flowing threadbare cloak and black skullcap.

The early English settlers in this country started giving Saint Nicholas his "New Look." The English children adopted the legendary Christmas figure from the Dutch, but the English children had trouble pronouncing "Saint Nicholas." Somehow the name changed to "Santa Kalouf," and finally it was corrupted to "Santa Claus."

However, this was only the beginning. In 1809 Washington Irving, in his "Knickerbocker's History of New York," wrote of the Saint as the guardian of New York City. Irving described Saint Nick as a jolly fellow with a broad-brimmed hat and huge breeches. He taught Saint Nick to smoke a long pipe, and, in the story, replaced his shuffling gait with a trim gait that floated over New York house-tops.

A short time later, Saint Nicholas' transformation was aided by Clement Moore in his famous poem, "The Visit from Saint Nicholas," written in 1822. Moore, a professor of Divinity in a New York theological seminary, gave Saint Nick a sleigh, twinkling eyes, cheeks like roses, nose like a cherry, and a round little belly.

Today's Santa Claus is by no means streamlined, but he is a far cry from the lean, ascetic, somberly dressed fellow who, for centuries on Christmas Eve, guided his mare through the streets of Europe.

Fruit Cake Makes Good Christmas Gift

A pound loaf of fruit cake is worth considering as a homemade food gift for Christmas. The rectangular shape is easier to pack for safe travel than a round cake and also easier to slice thin and evenly, as most people like this holiday delicacy.

Here is a recipe for dark fruit cake from Mrs. Betty Wingrove, Will county home adviser. It makes five loaves of about one pound each, and features moderate cost, generally available ingredients rather than the more expensive items sometimes called for in fruit cake recipes.

The dozen ingredients are: One pound soft dried but uncooked prunes; one pound seedless raisins; one-quarter pound nut meats (about one cup); one cup fat; one cup brown sugar, firmly packed in measuring cup; four eggs; one tablespoon milk; two cups sifted flour; one teaspoon mace; one teaspoon cinnamon; one-half teaspoon baking soda.

To make: Pit and chop prunes. Soak raisins 20 minutes in hot water and drain. Cut citron in strips and chop nuts. Mix all together.

Cream fat and sugar together. Beat in eggs and add milk.

Sift together flour, spices and soda and stir into fruits and nuts. Add to creamed mixture.

Grease and flour five small loaf pans (3 to 5 cups capacity). Line bottoms with brown paper. Grease the paper.

Cool slightly, then remove from pans and strip off paper. Cool thoroughly and wrap in waxed paper. Store in a cool place before using.

Our pleasant custom of gift-giving at Christmas comes from ancient Rome.

That tasty bird, the turkey, traces his ancestry back to Abyssinia. The Yule log, tradition says, must always be cut from a huge oak tree.

To refuse mince pie on Christmas Day means bad luck all the new year.

The tradition of decorating a Christmas tree for the home is from Finland.

Lighting a candle in the window is an old Irish holiday custom.

Christmas Day has been a legal holiday in America since the late 1700's.

Wassail would be the Swedish counterpart of English plum pudding.

Use Your Scents

It's false economy to leave your favorite perfumes unused upon the vanity table. This is "wasting sweetness" and reminds you that, once opened, perfume slowly evaporates, and that even light and heat can spoil its perfect balance.

Devil's Knell An Old Custom

Our ringing of Christmas bells is a tradition probably inherited from the old English "Devil's Knell." House Beautiful magazine, reporting on the origin of Christmas customs, says the English tolled bells for one hour before midnight on Christmas Eve to announce the death of the devil. Then at midnight, great joyous peals would signal the birth of Christ.

Consider Age In Buying Toys

This year's crop of Christmas toys will reflect the trend toward playthings which teach as they entertain. The influence behind this trend is the Toy Guidance Council which devotes much time to educating parents to the age suitability of playthings. The Council believes many toys are wasted because children are too young or too old to use them intelligently. The Council's Motto: "There's a right time for the right toy."

Giving charity to the poor at Christmas dates from the legend that the Christ Child wanders the world on Christmas Eve disguised as a beggar.

In Shakespeare's England, the holiday festivities lasted 12 full days.

Germans Started Christmas Trees

Research into the origin of the Christmas tree shows that the Germans had much more to do with this tradition than their contribution of the song, "O Tannenbaum."

"The concept of the tree is very old," says the December issue of House Beautiful. "In 1561, authorities in Alsace had to pass an ordinance limiting the size of trees that burghers cut down for their celebration."

According to the article, Moravians in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, saluted Christmas in 1747 with a pyramid of green, decorated with candles, apples, and verses. But until the middle 1800's, Christmas trees were comparatively rare and those that did exist were usually set up and decorated by German immigrants to America.

"Fort Dearborn, Michigan," the author reports, "is said to have had a tree in 1804. A German professor at Harvard trimmed one for his little boy in 1836. And in Williamsburg, Va., they still celebrate the lighting of the first Christmas tree ever trimmed there about 1840 by a German tutor."

Prince Albert was responsible for the first tree in modern England in 1841. And ten years later there was a Christmas tree salesman plying his trade in New York City.

There's a report that Henry VIII celebrated a Twelfth Night pageant with a tree of gold hung with roses and pomegranates. A travel book of 1605 mentions the way the residents of Strassburg set up fir trees in their rooms and hung on them apples, wafers, gift and sugar.

Sell Pine Prunings As Christmas Greens

You can get back the cost of pruning your evergreen plantation plus a nice margin of profit if you sell the pruned branches for Christmas greens.

R. W. Lorenz, University of Illinois forester, reports a net profit of $188 an acre from evergreen cuttings at Simmsippi Forest, Ogle county, last year. Average gross income an acre was $423, while expenses averaged $235 an acre.

These results come from a pruning study in an 8 year-old red pine plantation containing about 1,200 trees an acre. Average height of the trees was 9½ feet, and pruning height was three feet. Yield was a little more than seven tons of greens an acre.

Lorenz says it took about six man-days to prune one acre. All of the greens were tied into 15-pound bundles and retailed at the forest for 50 cents a bundle.

You can sell Christmas greens wherever Christmas trees are sold. Greenhouses, florists and grocery stores handle Christmas trees. Your pine plantation can also provide Christmas trees to sell for additional income.

Good forest management calls for pruning pine plantations to produce clear-barked, knot-free stems, Lorenz says. Actually, the difference in price you will receive in select lumber from pruned trees and that from No. 2 or No. 3 common lumber from unpruned trees will more than offset the cost of pruning.

But you don't have to wait 40 to 60 years for income from your planting. Pine plantations often produce Christmas trees at five years and green at 8-10 years.

The name "Caesar," claimed by many Roman emperors, grew so closely associated with the idea of the emperor that it became a kind of title, says the World Book Encyclopedia. In the Russian language the title became "czar," and in the German was changed to "kaiser."

How to Roast Wild Duck or Goose

Roast wild fowl—duck, pheasant, or goose—the same as a domestic bird. The only difference is that extra fat needs to be added when roasting a wild bird.

Miss Geraldine Acker, foods and nutrition specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that wild birds have less fat than domestic fowl and therefore need generous additions of butter, bacon salt pork drippings, or other fats.

Frequent basting will do the job; or you may place a greased cloth—fine muslin or cheesecloth—over the bird to keep it moist during roasting.

Dressings especially suitable for wild duck or goose are fruit dressings, ones well seasoned with herb or onion. If your family doesn't like dressing, you can stuff the cavity with an onion and an apple or an onion and a carrot. The bird will be juicier if you fill the cavity with some food.

If desired, rub the bird on the outside with seasonings, such as garlic. Then coat it with fat. Stuff and truss as you would a domestic bird. Place on a rack in a shallow pan and roast at a moderate temperature.

Roast goose in a slow oven 300 to 325 degrees, allowing 18 minutes per pound. For a medium-done duck roast in a moderate oven 325 to 350 degrees F. about 1½-2 hours, or until tender.

Take a Bow, Dad!

American fathers are the finest fathers in the world, according to the Childcraft Advisory Service in Chicago.

The average American father is more generous, more understanding and less tyrannical than fathers in foreign countries, the service contends.

He spends more money on his home and his family and less money on himself than does the average Continental European father. He spends more time with his family than the South American dad and is more interested in his children and their problems.

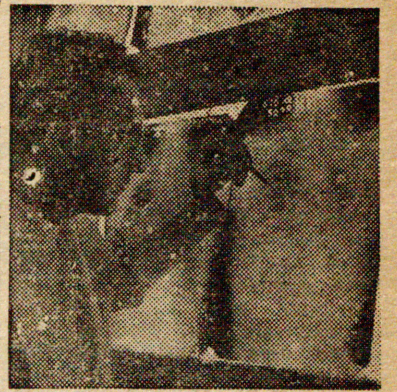

He shows his children more affection than the English father and is less domineering than the German father, who demands absolute, unquestioning obedience.

Unlike most Turkish, Arabian, and Egyptian fathers, he regards family life as a "partnership" in which all members should share equally.

Probably the most desirable trait of the American dad, though, is his willingness to dry the dinner dishes—especially if "Mom" insists.

The Canadian River is not in Canada. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, it's a branch of the Arkansas River, which rises in New Mexico and flows eastward through Texas and Oklahoma.
